Attorney Biography:

Since 1979, Joseph J. Miroballi has been a zealous advocate for victims of wrongdoing, particularly for individuals who have been seriously injured as a result of medical malpractice, products liability, and construction accidents. In addition to trying cases successfully to verdict on behalf of those individuals, Joe also has successfully tried cases involving police misconduct and auto liability. His cases against major medical institutions in the Chicago area, including Cook County Hospital, led to much-needed reform in the way prescription medications are dispensed and administered to patients.
